Coaching Internship Residency

You've changed your classroom into a PBL Powerhouse. Do you accept the challenge to do the same for your school or district?

Seasoned PBL practitioners that are ready to lead transformation in their home districts are encouraged to apply for one of the limited spots in our Think Global PBL Coaching Residency. This is a personalized opportunity to engage in an on-campus, immersive experience, engaging in the inner-workings of a 100% PBL school from the inside. For 5 full days, each internship participant will shadow under the apprenticeship of an on-site, Master PBL Instructional Coach, who is certified as an Advanced Reasoning in Education: Think Global PBL facilitator with years of expertise and experience.

The week before the residency begins, the Instructional Coach will brief the Intern Resident on the projects currently in progress at the school and together craft a plan to tailor the experience for the individual Intern's needs, maximizing relevancy through personalization and guaranteeing the Resident will experience and learn exactly what they need to take their PBL coaching pedagogy to new heights. When the Intern Resident arrives on campus, they will be in possession of all the necessary knowledge about the school's classes, current projects, and the standards being covered, creating instant immersion.

There is no time for "down time". Every minute of every day is transformative.

The Intern Resident will shadow their Instructional Coach mentor through day to day planning activities, PBL classroom walk-throughs, teacher pre-conferences, post-conferences, and PBL instructional debriefing. The mentor and resident will work closely together instructional planning for individual teachers and school needs. Residents are encouraged to observe other classes, meet with other PBL facilitators, and speak with students about their journey in attending a 100% PBL school. In the end, all Interns will leave the Think Global PBL Coaching Residency with a personalized strategy for leading PBL implementation at their home school or district.

This opportunity is only open to experienced PBL practitioners who have attended at least one Think Global PBL Foundations training and an additional advanced training. Intern Resident experiences are limited to only 4 individuals at a time.

Contact us right away to secure your place in the most immersive and transformative educational opportunity of your career.
